RISMEDIA, July 14 – The SouthEast Valley Regional Association of Realtors (SEVRAR) based in Mesa, Ariz., is making the PocketSurfer™ Web viewer available to its 8,500 members.

The PocketSurfer Web viewer provides Internet access to listing data including photos, maps, directions – in a mobile environment. Also accessible are: Multiple Listing Service data, current mortgage information, financial calculators, and e-mail.

DataWind Net Access Corporation says the PocketSurfer Web viewer provides access to unlimited live and continually updated Web-based MLS data from anywhere across the country, without the need for complicated daily hot-synching, or being limited to a select few MLS locations. Traditionally, wireless devices for Realtors have been limited to bulky handhelds that deliver content slowly, a limited number of fields and typically require a learning curve to master the equipment and procedures, the company says.

The PocketSurfer's larger screen delivers an experience similar to that of the desktop — through a full VGA-width, 640-pixel, color screen, compared to 320 pixels on most PDAs and 120 pixels on most wireless phones, the company says.

It provides full, unaltered Web access without scrunching content through Web clipping or reformatting. PocketSurfer users are able to access the Web in its original HTML content, with the original layout and full graphics in seconds.

"As president of SEVRAR's board of directors we are constantly on the watch for tools which will help make our members more effective in the field working with clients and we want to partner to save money with vendors for our members," said Duane Washkowiak. "This tool to access MLS helps to meet that goal."

"It's the real Web as people have come to experience it — and expect it — on their desktop," said Suneet S. Tuli, CEO of DataWind. "The PocketSurfer Web viewer provides the freedom to fully use the Internet from anywhere, a car, a hotel, the airport, or while showing properties to a customer — all from an innovative device that's small enough to fit in your pocket."
